

VeroTech is an R&D sourcing company that releases the energy and talent of its consultants.

We do this together with our customers they can develop their full potential.

VeroTech implies “Real Technology for the Future”.

VeroTech’s mission is providing engineering and consulting services that are perfectly aligned with your needs & timing for your technology projects.

We support innovative companies in different sectors. This variety brings new insights leading to innovation. Our drive and our expertise make us your partner for success.

We strive to be an excellent company to work with and to work for.

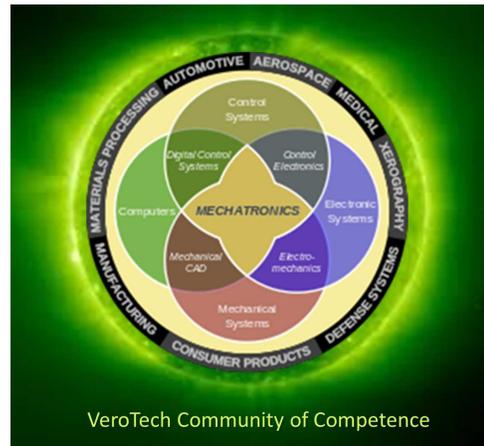

Our service:

- R&D expertise: Ad-hoc or specialized engineering; software engineering, electronics, mechanics, mechatronics
- Overall project management: from initial design & development until industrialization

VeroTech’s competitive advantage is our dynamic, growing community of engineers; the creation of a collaborative learning environment with peer & senior mentorship.

And because we care, they deliver!
Results start by the right R&D Engineer.
